ERA4Health second webinar - Pragmatic Comparative-Effectiveness Randomized Trials:

ERA4Health is excited to announce its second webinar, "Pragmatic Comparative-Effectiveness Randomized Trials: ", scheduled for November 11th from 13:00-14:00 CET.

Focus on evaluating the effectiveness of different interventions in routine clinical settings to reflect real-world practice by including diverse patient populations and standard care conditions. By generating real-world evidence, these trials support more informed, practical health decisions for clinicians, patients, and policymakers

In his talk, Dr. Frank Hulstaert will provide a comprehensive overview of how these trials can bridge the gap between clinical research and routine medical practice, ultimately enhancing health outcomes.

Frank Hulstaert (M.D.) background is in internal medicine and Applied Artificial Intelligence. He joined the Belgian Health Care Knowledge Centre (KCE) in 2004. As a senior researcher, he is mainly involved in health technology assessments and since 2016 also in KCE Trials, a program of publicly funded practice-oriented trials. During the COVID pandemic, he coordinated the non-commercial COVID clinical trials in Belgium
